Don't miss two half days of online education and networking with 20+ highly qualified association executives and suppliers. Now is the time to reinvent or evolve!

The AES is ICCA’s most popular event and is currently more relevant than ever, as we will be discussing industry recovery with leading associations and suppliers. Your investment in these challenging times is the best way to prepare for future business!

Programme now online!

The AES 2020 will help everyone understand how associations are changing their current practices, how this will affect their meetings and how suppliers need to adapt their own business practices to help with economic recovery. The sessions will look at both sides of the coin and identify solutions for associations and suppliers. The event programme is now online.
