CONCLUSIONS

This method has proven to be very effective both in improving the precision of reporting dogs when there is a person under the snow, and in the way of searching for dogs in areas where we believe there is a victim under the snow. Furthermore, it is a method that can be used in periods of winter when there is little snow and it can also be done alone without the help of a helper.

P.s. We have not included a last slide where the olfactory witness is hidden using the snowmobile so as not to leave any tracks
